Doctor C. C. Owens, reclining in his comfortable office yesterday afternoon, was singing his favorite song. When election day is coming, and each leader now is summing up the number of the voters he can count that he controls.

And the eager politician greets you smilingly and whines:

That you'll do a favor for him with your ballot at the polls.

He cares a deal about you, and he says he has no doubt you

Like to see a good legislation, and he's working for that end:

Will ask for your relations, quite forgetful of their stations.

And you soon believe the politician is your truest friend.

When election day is over you will very soon discover

That you've had an ordinary mortal on this little sphere:

He no longer meets you smiling, 'twas your vote he was negotiating.

And he'll drop you from his memory till election time next year.

THE ELECTION LAWS.

Instructions to Voters Being Sent Out By Secretary Readley.

The new election laws of this state are voluminous, if not complicated.

It requires familiarity with them to properly and legally conduct any sort of an election.

The new laws on this subject were scattered broadcast two years ago, but the intervening Legislature amended them in material particulars, and that there may be no mistake committed by the representatives of either party it was determined some time ago that the laws as amended should be more widely published than is possible by the limited number of published acts and revised statutes in existence.

Accordingly, Secretary of State Headly has had the laws, amendments and his instructions republished in pamphlet form, and is now busy sending out a big number of copies to the different counties of the state.

Three pamphlets to 100 voters is about the proportion in which they are being distributed.

A Newsman's Been Telephoning Through His Hat.

How the Local Branch of the American Protective Association Is Swelling Its Ranks—Some Startling Figures.

Not enough

By a Jugful!

That is, if THE LEDGER is correctly advised.

Yesterday's Cincinnati Post contained this special from this city:

"MAYSVILLE, Ky., October 19th.—The local branch of the American Protective Association received 163 applications for membership last night and initiated 60.

The Order is preparing to take part in the fall election."

The correspondent's informant is said to have been slightly "off" in his numerical base.

At least THE LEDGER has a tip—and it didn't come by the corkscrew route—that 163 is far below the number of applications, while the initiations were very largely in excess of 300, instead of the 60 stated in The Post's special.

More than this, THE LEDGER's office cut, who was out quite late Thursday night, gives the information that meetings were held that evening at no less than three different places, and that the great mass of those present were Democrats of the most pronounced type.

At one place, out of more than eight hundred who were present, only two were known to be Republicans.

Although the local A. P. A. is not seeking notoriety, it doesn't require any get a thing time, telegraphing or type to get a thing just exactly right than it does to get it wrong.

And the band played Miss Annie Hookey!

I desire to express my sincere and heartfelt thanks to the many friends who kindly showed me during the late illness and death of my beloved grand mother, Sallie Miller, who passed from this life October 16th to a higher one.

Thursday afternoon while the steamer Boston, which has been receiving a general overhauling at the Cincinnati Marine Ways, was being let back into the water, one of the "cradles" under her gaw way and for a while it looked as though the boat would break in two.

Several men were in dangerous positions while the boat was being launched and but for the carefulness of some of the employees the loss would have reached a considerable sum.

The boat, however, was immediately blocked up, and the Marine Ways will likely be delayed several days before another boat can be hauled out.

FREE TURNPIKE ROADS.

Fayette County Placed Court Morning in the Right Direction.

Caroline Mercury.

In publishing the proceedings of the Placed Court, South, tomorrow, Sunday Lexington Leader contains the following:

"The question of free turnpikes was discussed at length and it was agreed to urge the State Legislature to authorize the sale of the state's interest in the pikes to the respective counties through which they run."

There is no county in the state better fitted for the beginning of the work of securing free turnpikes than Fayette and we hope to see her push the good work. It may not come this year or next, or it may not be a reality for a dozen years, but free roads must come as one of the natural results of advancement. We know not how, we know not when, but by some means at some time the roads will be free. No one will be robbed, no one will be outraged, but it will come just as easy and nearly some day as pulling on an old boot, and all the old croakers will stand around and wonder why the way and the means had not been thought of fifty years ago!

INSURANCE IN KENTUCKY.

A Warning to the People Against Wildcat Companies.

Commissioner of Insurance Duncan calls the attention of the people of this state to the fact that the fire insurance companies whose names are given below, which are doing or have sought to do business in Kentucky through correspondence from the home office or otherwise, are not authorized by law to do business in the state, and the people are cautioned against placing their insurance with these companies, viz:

- Cincinnati Insurance Company, Cincinnati, O.
- Empire State Lloyds, New York City.
- Equitable Fire Lloyds, New York City.
- Farmers' and Mechanics' Insurance Company, Alexandria, Va.
- Home Insurance Company, Tennessee.
- Lloyds of New York City, New York City.
- Madison Insurance Company, Madison, Ind.
- Manufacturers' Lloyds, New York City.
- Merchants' Insurance Company, Hammond, Ind.
- Merchants' Fire Lloyds, New York City.
- Millers' National Insurance Company, Chicago, Ill.
- Millers' Mutual Fire Insurance Association, Alton, Ill.
- Mountain State Fire Insurance Company, Wheeling, W. Va.
- National Fire Insurance Company, Fredericksburg, Va.
- New York Central Lloyds, New York City.
- Norfolk Fire and Marine Insurance Company, Norfolk, Va.
- North Carolina State Insurance Company, Raleigh, N. C.
- Old Dominion Insurance Company, Portsmouth, Va.
- Philadelphia Fire Lloyds, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Planters' Insurance Company, Alexandria, Va.
- Provident Insurance Company, Richmond, Va.
- South and North American Lloyds, New York City.
- United Underwriters (Lloyds) New York City.
- Washington Insurance Company, Hammond, Ind.

A majority of the companies named are of the strictly "wildcat" variety, and are wholly irresponsible. None of them being authorized to transact business in the state, they have no lawful agent or attorney in the state upon whom service of process could be had in case of suit on a resisted loss which would make it impossible that it be brought in the state in which the company is located. This would place the claimant at a great disadvantage, and it would give the company a club which it could be relied on to most effectively use in forcing a compromise at a heavy loss to the claimant.

The Commissioner would be glad to be informed of any person representing in this state any of the companies named, so that he may take the necessary steps to have such persons arrested and prosecuted.

THE LEDGER understands that some parties in this city have placed insurance with one or more of these companies.

IN BRACING OCTOBER.

STRENGTH SHOULD RETURN AND LANGUOR GO.

No Season Is So Good for Building Up the Brain and Body-Paine's Celery Compound's Work of Mercy in Countless Homes.

The prostrating heat of summer has long since gone.

There is now but one excuse for languor and lack of energy—ill health.

With the return of bracing, vigorous weather the thoroughly well men and women find the prospect of work attractive. Business looks promising. The indolent, unambitious feeling of a few months ago gives place to energy and hard work.

That is provided one is well.

To the sick man or woman the prospect is doleful. The thousands of persons who worked right through the hot summer, and the many whose vacation, instead of securing their strength, has only made increased demands on their tired nerves and brain—these unhappy ones should take advantage of the bracing days and nights to store their bodies with pure, vigorous blood and their nervous system with energy before the cold weather overtake them in their weak, "run down" condition.

Paine's Celery Compound should be taken during the month of October. It will build up the tired system wonderfully. Increased appetite and steady gain in weight during the month will show unmistakably the stimulating effect of this remarkable nerve food. To those who know anything of the working and the purpose of the nervous system it is evident that the prompt feeding of the nerves with Paine's Celery Compound must be followed by a decided gain in health and vigor of the entire system.

There is no organ of the body that is not controlled by the nerves.

It is the putting off of attention to the signs of heart weakness that fills the statistics with overwhelming numbers of death from "heart failure." Those who at once build up their strength and nourish the feeble nerve-centers with Paine's Celery Compound, check weakness of that important organ so readily as weakness of any other part of the body.

This greatest modern invigorator, discovered by the man whom Dartmouth College is proud to honor, Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., was welcomed as a more than extraordinary step in advance of anything before in the command of physicians, for curing rheumatism, neuralgia, debility. Countless women, weak, thin, mere bundles of nerves, and discouraged by their inability to perform their daily tasks, have been on the sure road to recovery by Paine's Celery Compound.

Physicians prescribe it the world over. Get strong and well with Paine's Celery Compound.

Here is the experience of Mrs. William McCollom of Trenton, Mo., who says:

"I have had neuralgia for eight or ten years. I began to think that eventually it would cause my death. I would have three or four awful attacks in a month, and all the pain would settle in the base of my brain and extend down my back, lasting several hours."

"We tried everything that we could think of, but nothing did me any lasting good. Some said it was female trouble, some said one thing, some said another, but thanks to your wonderful Compound, I am free once more. I have often thought that I would write and tell you what a relief it is to be free from pain, but I neglected it from time to time. You may believe that I shall always speak a kind word for Paine's Celery Compound."

"One thing is certain, and that is the doctors could not do anything for me. Some told me it was caused by nervous trouble, some said it was female trouble, some said one thing, some said another, but thanks to your wonderful Compound, I am free once more. I have often thought that I would write and tell you what a relief it is to be free from pain, but I neglected it from time to time. You may believe that I shall always speak a kind word for Paine's Celery Compound."

Frankfort people want the Electric Car Co. to have a time-table.

The number of passengers carried on Pullman cars in the United States during last year was 5,293,323, and the number of miles run was 197,406,500. During the previous year 4,671,129 passengers were carried and 305,437,790 miles were run. Just stop and think of the immensity of these figures.

THE LEDGER!

WHEN The Bulletin charges another Democratic paper with supporting Democratic candidates "for revenue only." It's time to hunt up your overcoat and umbrella. There's certainly a spell of weather.

THE LEDGER has characteristically avoided all reference to the character of those who compose at least a part of the Democratic ticket in Mason county; but when The Bulletin says they are equal and even superior to the Republican candidates, either in point of capacity or morality, comparison becomes odious.

THE gold reserve is now above $90,000, and the receipts at the Treasury under the operation of the new Tariff Bill are quite gratifying. Truly this prosperous tide is getting to be serious — to the Republican party — Fleming News.

Isn't that? You'd better post yourself on the Federal finances. Or do you know more about it than the Democratic Treasury officials? When the Republicans were in control the Gold Reserve was never allowed to fall below the $100,000,000 mark; but then $90,000,000 is a little over half that sum; so, if the Democrats do only half as well as the Republicans, that's all that ought to be expected.

SCIENCE BOGGS, a wealthy Democratic farmer, living near Kokomo, Ind., has felt the effects of the new Tariff Law on the farmer. Last week Mr. Boggs shipped nineteen cars of baled hay to Baltimore, Md., where he had been marketing his crop for some years. A few days afterward he received a letter from his commission merchant stating that on account of the tremendous amount of hay shipped to Baltimore from Canada since the Tariff Law went into effect, there was no market for Mr. Boggs's consignment, and it would scarcely bring enough to pay the freight. The nineteen cars of hay remain in the Baltimore yards, subject to Science Boggs's orders. Mr. Boggs will lose heavily by the shipment, and he is thoroughly disgusted with the Democratic party and its destructive legislation.

The Bulletin a few days ago volunteered the statement that "the Democratic candidates in Mason county were not only the equals but the superiors of the Republican candidates," or words to that effect. And yet the Editor of The Bulletin is a church member and Christian, at least, to be a conscientious Christian and a truthful man. But it seems that all principles must be subordinated to the Democratic faith when it comes to politics.

When the Hon. WILLIAM H. HALLIDAY, the Republican elected last fall, took possession of the Franklin County (O.) Auditor's Office a few days ago, it was discovered that the county funds were in very bad shape, it being shown by a semi-official statement that they were overdrawn over $200,000, with debts outstanding to the aggregate amount of $1,215,000. It is believed that this showing will elect every candidate on the Republican county ticket.

This two-for-a-nickel Democratic Administration is resorting to every makeshift to increase the gold reserve. They told us the repeal of the Sherman Law would do it. But it didn't. Then they told us the new Tariff Law would do it. But it didn't. Having lied and deceived the people to the limit, they have gone into the peddling business. The Assistant Treasurer at Cincinnati has received notice from the Treasury Department at Washington, to the effect that the Treasurer at Chicago has been directed to send by the United States Express Company $100,000 worth of the sovereign "Columbian" half-dollars to the Sub-Treasurer at Cincinnati, to be exchanged for gold, and he is further directed to be sure that the gold for such exchanges is not drawn from his office.

UNIDENTIFIED.

Suspected Train Robber Says: "Prove Me Guilty."
He Talks Some, But Refuses to Give an Account of His Whereabouts.

Flash Light Photograph Taken of Him For the Purpose of Identification. The Adams Express Co. Replenishes the Money Before the Prisoner is Convicted.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 20.—Charles A. Morgansfield, the suspected train robber, showed signs of weakening Friday, although when approached by Chief Deitsch's secretary, Doc Draper, he became quite talkative. After a general conversation Draper asked him if he knew what he was held for. "I haven't any idea," was the reply. "You are thought to be one of the Acquin creek train robbers." "My God! Is that so? Do I look like a train robber? Did you ever see a train robber and do I look like one?" he excitedly exclaimed. "Where are you from?" "I would rather not tell, as I don't want any of my folks to know where I am."

"Give me the names of some of the places where you have been, so I can write to them. This will show that you are not guilty." "Never mind; I'll do my own writing." "Then the only thing left for you to do is to prove your innocence." "I don't have to prove it." "Where did you come from before you met with your accident?" "I came from Cumberland to Pittsburgh, and from there to a small place near Chester Park. I was hurt while trying to board a train to come to this city."

He proved, in a further general conversation, to be well educated, shrewd, and having the delicate instincts of a gentleman. In another conversation with Detective Callahan he said he had left Washington on a freight train and went to Cumberland, thence to Pittsburgh and Columbus, and was on his way to Cincinnati when he received his injuries. To the detective he said that as he neared Chester park he prepared to get off the train. The atmosphere was very foggy and he could not see well, as it was not yet daylight. The money consisted of $80 in gold, $119.15 in silver and copper and $1,031 in currency. The court was informed that the police authorities and Col. Deitsch refused to relinquish it to the plaintiffs, as they wished to hold it as evidence against the prisoner, with whom the money was transferred to the court having jurisdiction in the case.
